

Content Distribution and Advertising Policy update

15 March 2022

In light of the ongoing conflict in Ukraine - and after consultation and input from our staff, audience, advertisers, and industry partners - we have updated our commercially-supported content distribution and advertising policy.

As of now, Europa Science (and any group companies) will be suppressing the outbound delivery of commercially-supported content and advertising to Russia and Belarus. This includes (where geographic identification is possible) all print copies, commercial emails, and programmatic web advertising across all our titles.

Our editorial position - to support and enable the growth and development of the science and technology industries we serve - means we will leave our independently written content open to all, but we are actively choosing not to derive revenue, directly or indirectly, from audiences or commercial partners in those territories.

This is a temporary policy and is subject to review.

We wish to express our heartfelt support and sympathy to all those directly affected by the conflict.